stories by victor champion ~ introduced by ian mccance

story two ~ aunt fanny's expert nephew

One of my efforts in Aunt Fanny's school is still referred to as Champion's calamity. Aunt Fanny having had an urgent call, I sat in for her and bid to 3. for rubber.

Aunt Fanny returned to watch me display my expertise against the opening lead of ♣J. Gladly accepting, I led ♥9, taken with much shuffling of cards by the Old One with ♥A and ◆K led.

Nonchalantly I explained to Aunt Fanny that five was now cold, for with West marked with ♥Q and East with ♠Q the only loser was ♠Q, as ♣J goes off on a fourth heart. I couldn't understand why she was breathing so heavily.

I, innocent as a new-laid egg, finessed ♥10. The Old One, with no shuffling, produced ♥Q, led ♦3, ruffed the return, cashed ♣A and gave West a heart ruff for 2 down.

As I slunk out to give a class a lecture on dummy play I heard Aunt Fanny quoting Ogden Nash "Too clever is dumb".
